

Revised HeadRoom Amps Deliver Sounder Mind, Healthier Wallet!

In their never-ending quest to get it right between your ears, HeadRoom has again revised and improved their two Mobile Line Products: the Total AirHead for portable players; and their Total BitHead which adds USB connectivity with laptop and desktop computers. Now solely available in ultra high-quality "Total" versions, these two amps are much lower in price than previous versions due to improved manufacturing methods, and sound significantly better thanks to the availability of a new generation of high performance, small signal, audio power devices. Brand-new on these amps is a high-low gain switch and improved volume control circuitry to better match with the wide variety of headphone impedances encountered by mobile listeners.

What's New?

- High-low Gain Switch. Select a gain range appropriate for your headphones
- Improved, silent volume potentiometer circuitry
- High performance audio chips offer even better sound quality
- Lower Price! Total AirHead now only $149 Total BitHead now only $199

Total AirHead

A true miniature power amplifier for headphones. It isolates your player from the complex load of the headphones (which makes the player itself sound even better), and it drives them with the authority and finesse of quality power amplification. Pack it into a HeadRoom bag with your player for the ultimate portable experience. The result? Exquisite audio right between your ears.
